COMPREHENSIVE INVESTIGATIVE REPORT

I. STATEMENT AND BACKGROUND OF THE CASE

This matter was generated from information ascertained by the Federal Election Commission ("Commission") in the normal course of carrying out its supervisory responsibilities. See 2 U.S.C. § 437g(a)(2). On December 3, 1996, the Commission found reason to believe that China Airlines, Ltd. ("CAL"), Longevity International Enterprises Corporation ("Longevity"), and Friends for Fasi and its treasurer and Frank Fasi ("Fasi"), violated 2 U.S.C. § 441e and approved Subpoenas for Documents and Orders for Written Answers for all respondents. This matter involves the possible acceptance of in-kind contributions, by Frank Fasi, the former mayor of the City and County of Honolulu, and Friends for Fasi, the campaign committee for Frank Fasi, from 1984 through 1996, in the form of reduced rental costs for office space at the Chinatown Cultural Plaza Shopping Center ("Cultural Plaza"), the owners of which may be foreign nationals or may have been influenced and/or controlled by foreign nationals.

Based on information provided by the aforementioned subpoenas and orders, the Commission approved additional subpoenas and orders for all respondents and several witnesses in this matter on October 3, 1997. After extensive efforts to secure compliance with the issued written discovery, this Office circulated an informational General Counsel's Report, dated April 21, 1998, to the Commission. At that time, this Office anticipated the subsequent timely submission of an affidavit by Mr. Louis C.L. Chang, a former CAL and Longevity employee who managed the Cultural Plaza from 1979 through 1995, containing new and inculpatory information regarding the matter.

On January 13, 1998, staff conducted a telephone interview with Mr. Chang, a witness in the above-captioned matter. The purpose of this interview was to ask Mr. Chang several follow-up questions based on written responses to an interrogatory he had submitted to this Office on December 3, 1997. During the interview, Mr. Chang provided staff with information which appears to confirm the involvement of Frank Fasi, the Committee, Longevity, and CAL in the in-kind contribution 441e scheme discussed in the First General Counsel's Report dated November 26, 1996, and the General Counsel's Report dated September 29, 1997.

Attachment 1. Most significantly, Mr. Chang stated that the CAL personnel department had issued the orders for him to work at Longevity. Additionally, he believed 1) CAL to be the owner of the Cultural Plaza, 2) Frank Fasi's rent was a "special case," and 3) Longevity thought that a reduced rent for Fasi would produce advantages from Fasi as the Mayor. Mr. Chang also stated that after Fasi moved into the Cultural Plaza, the Cultural Plaza was placed on a city bus route, received a bus stop, and police patrols in the area increased. In sum, he asserted that Fasi being Mayor at the time influenced the amount that Fasi paid for rent at the Cultural Plaza.

As a result of this interview, a draft affidavit was created, Attachment 2, and numerous attempts by this Office, spanning several months, have been made to obtain an affidavit from Mr. Chang and/or his counsel(s). Finally, this Office received an affidavit of Mr. Chang from his current counsel, Richard K. Griffith. Attachment 3.

The substance of the affidavit differs greatly from that of the conversation which was memorialized by this Office. The affidavit fails to mention several of Mr. Chang's aforementioned assertions regarding Fasi's occupancy at the Cultural Plaza, and, in fact, attempts to disavow many of his oral statements. For instance, it implies that Fasi's special monthly rent was based upon a month-to-month tenancy arrangement and structural defects in the particular section of the building that Fasi occupied, rather than upon any perceived benefit that would accrue from Fasi's tenancy. Additionally, the sworn affidavit indicates that the benefits incurred by the Cultural Plaza during Fasi's term in office occurred because of the "growing needs of the community" rather than Fasi's influence.

Based upon the crucial information provided by Mr. Chang during the January 13, 1998 telephone interview, as well as subsequent investigatory efforts, the Office of General Counsel has prepared this comprehensive investigative report.

II. ANALYSIS

A. The Law

The Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended, ("the Act"), prohibits a foreign national from making a contribution of money or anything of value in connection with an election to any political office, either directly or through any other person. 2 U.S.C. § 441e. It is also unlawful under the Act for any person to solicit, accept, or receive a contribution from a foreign national.¹ 2 U.S.C. § 441e(a); 11 C.F.R. § 110.4(a). Section 441e defines a foreign national as:

- (1) a foreign principal, as such term is defined by section 611(b) of title 22, except that the term "foreign national" shall not include any individual who is a citizen of the United States; or
- (2) as an individual who is not a citizen of the United States and who is not lawfully admitted for permanent residence, as defined at section 1101(a)(20) of title 8.²

The Commission's regulations include the following prohibitions at 11 C.F.R. § 110.4(a):

- (1) A foreign national shall not directly or through any other person make a contribution, or an expenditure, or expressly or impliedly promise to make a contribution, or any expenditure, in connection with a convention, a caucus, or a primary, general, special or run-off election in connection with any local, State, or Federal public office.
- (2) No person shall solicit, accept, or receive a contribution as set out above from a foreign national.
- (3) A foreign national shall not direct, dictate, control, or directly or indirectly participate in the decision-making process of any person, such as a corporation, labor organization, or political committee, with regard to such person's Federal or nonfederal election-related activities, such as decisions concerning the making of contributions or expenditures in connection with elections for any local, State, or Federal office or decisions concerning the administration of a political committee.

- 1) a government of a foreign country and a foreign political party;
- 2) a person outside of the United States, unless it is established that such person is not an individual and is organized under or created by the laws of the United States or of any State or other place subject to the jurisdiction of the United States and has its principal place of business within the United States; and
- 3) a partnership, association, corporation, organization, or other combination of persons organized under the laws of or having its principal place of business in a foreign country.

For the purposes of 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(20), "[t]he term 'lawfully admitted for permanent residence' means that status of having been lawfully accorded the privilege of residing permanently in the United States as an immigrant in accordance with the immigration laws, such status not having changed."

Section 441e squarely prohibits a foreign national (including a foreign national corporation) from making a political contribution through "any person." 2 U.S.C. § 441e; 11 C.F.R. § 110.4(a)(3). See A.O. 1983-31. Foreign national corporations are thus absolutely prohibited from making contributions to federal, state and local campaigns. Furthermore, no foreign nationals may participate in decisions made by domestic corporations to contribute, including in-kind contributions, to either Federal or nonfederal campaign committees and candidates nor may the decisions of a domestic corporation be dictated or directed by any foreign nationals. See MUR 2892 (Royal Hawaiian Country Club and Y.Y. Valley Corp.) and A.O. 1981-36. See also A.O.s 1992-16, 1989-29, 1989-20, 1985-3, and 1981-36. Moreover, the Commission has ruled that foreign national corporate board members must abstain from voting on matters including the selection of individuals to exercise decision-making authority regarding contributions and expenditures. See MUR 3460 and A.O. 1990-8. Additionally, the Commission has not permitted contributions by a domestic subsidiary where the source of funds is a foreign parent, reasoning that this essentially permits foreign nationals to make contributions indirectly when it could not do so directly. See, e.g. A.O.s 1985-3, 1981-36, 1980-111, 1980-100, 1978-21.

Section 441e prohibits a contribution of money or other thing of value. A thing of value would necessarily include all in-kind contributions such as the provision of any goods or services at a charge which is less than the usual and normal charge for such goods or services and the amount of the in-kind contribution would be the difference between the usual and normal charge for the goods or services at the time of the contribution and the amount charged the political committee. Cf. 2 U.S.C. § 431(8)(A)(i).

B. The Investigation

Although the responses from respondents and relevant witnesses vary, the pertinent information fulfilling the elements of the §441e violation will be analyzed in three thematic sections. Each will be discussed in turn.

1. Contribution In Connection With An Election

The responses to the subpoenas and orders approved on December 3, 1996 confirmed that Longevity has been registered as a domestic corporation since February 21, 1979 and that seven of eight of the directors in 1995 were Taiwanese nationals. Longevity has been the owner of the Cultural Plaza since May 11, 1979. See Longevity subpoena response dated February 6, 1997.

In 1981, Frank F. Fasi entered into a lease for an office and storage facility in the Cultural Plaza. Mr. Fasi and Friends for Fasi utilized this office space as a campaign office and storage space during his campaigns for Governor in 1982, Mayor in 1984, Mayor in 1988, Mayor in 1992, Governor in 1994, and Mayor in 1996. See Attachment 5.

Although Fasi claims in his subpoena response dated February 17, 1997, that the space was only used for campaign purposes a few months for each of those years, Friends for Fasi's expenditure reports from January 1990 through November 1996 indicate that each monthly rental payment to Longevity was paid in full by Fasi's campaign committee. See Attachment 6. Indeed, Fasi vacated the office space approximately a week after suffering his second electoral defeat,³ a primary bid for Mayor of Honolulu.⁴

Mr. Fasi had a written lease with Longevity from January 30, 1981 through February 29, 1984 with an unexecuted option to renew for two years. See Attachment 7. After his written lease expired, Fasi was a month-to-month tenant from March 1, 1984 until he vacated the premises in November 1996 soon after being notified by Rex Fa ("Fa"), the new General Manager of the Cultural Plaza, that he had to adjust Fasi's rent schedule. Correspondence between Fasi and Fa states that the "going rate" on the space Fasi occupied amounted to over $6,000 per month during 1996. See Attachment 8. Finally, during the course of 1996, Friends for Fasi began paying a reduced rate of $3,500 per month, agreed upon by Longevity only after the intervention of a Mr. C.T. Wong (a director and shareholder of Longevity - see discussion infra) for space which Fasi had up to that point paid only $800.

The original written lease indicates that Fasi paid a base rent of $1,546.65 per month for 3,437 feet. See Attachment 7. No written lease exists for Fasi's month-to-month tenancy, but according to the interrogatory responses from Fasi, he orally agreed to pay $800.00 per month for "the space" beginning in 1984. According to Longevity, there were "no such [other] oral leases."

Based on the referral of this matter, the First General Counsel's Report stated that Fasi's rental rate of $800 per month was for approximately 2,700 square feet of space, or $.29 per square foot. Subpoena generated responses and documents provided by Fasi in response to the Commission's initial discovery requests indicate that "the space" that Fasi actually occupied from 1984 through 1996 was the entire previous rental space of 3,437 square feet which, for $800 per month, would equal approximately $.23 per square foot.

⁴ The 1996 Honolulu Mayoral Primary Election was held on September 21, 1996. Fasi informed the management at Longevity on October 1, 1996 that he was vacating the space at the Cultural Plaza.

Utilizing a conservative rental rate for the time period 1994 through 1996⁵ in Honolulu, the yearly charge representing the ordinary course of business with regard to the Cultural Plaza would have been $61,866.00 $(($1.50 \times 12) \times 3437)$ rather than the $9,486.12 $(($0.23 \times 12) \times 3437)$ charged to Mr. Fasi and Friends for Fasi by Longevity.⁶ Applying these figures to the almost three years at issue, the amount in violation for 1994 - 1996 could equal approximately $160,000.

In the subpoena responses received from CAL and Longevity, both entities assert that the rent paid by Mr. Fasi was within the range of reasonable market rates for the space leased in the relevant time period. Longevity's response and CAL's accompanying affidavit of Robert Hastings, a "certified expert in real estate appraisal with particular expertise in the Honolulu area," asserts that the rental amount, $800 per month from March 1984 through November 1996, was consistent with market rates for that property. See Attachment 9. Further, they claim that the office classifications discussed in the Factual and Legal Analysis are in error, the rent in the Cultural Plaza varies, several tenants of the Cultural Plaza currently and historically have paid very low or effectively no rent for their space, and commercial vacancy rates increased dramatically during the period 1992-1996. Longevity's response and Mr. Hastings' submission fails, though, to provide an alternative system of office classification for the twelve year period in which Mr. Fasi leased space in the Cultural Plaza for $800.00 a month. More importantly, Hastings' subpoena response and subsequent correspondence from counsel discloses that, admittedly, Mr. Hastings did not rely upon any documentary evidence in devising his appraisal.

⁵ As discussed in prior General Counsel's Reports in this matter, the statute of limitations at Section 2462 appears to bar obtaining civil penalties for violations that are more than five years old. See FEC v. Williams, 104 F. 3d 237 (9th Cir. 1996), petition for cert. filed, 66 U.S.L.W. 3297 (U.S. Oct. 3, 1997) (No. 97-601), cert. denied, 118 S.Ct. 600, (Dec. 8, 1997).

21-04-402-4965

Attachment 10 & 11.

CAL's expert also fails to provide a precise estimate for the fair market rate for a limited number of the years in question. According to Mr. Hastings, "the approximate market range for such a lease in the period from 1992 to 1996 would be $0.25 per square foot to $0.75 per square foot." In theory, this $0.50 per square foot differential appears insignificant. Yet, in practice, it means that the monthly rental prices for Fasi's space could have varied widely, from $859.25 to $2,577.75. The utility of an expert's affidavit on rental prices appears questionable when the actual monetary range is so large. Further, Fasi was paying below the lowest end of the scale as his cost was approximately $.23 per square foot. In contrast, the rent that Fasi paid at the Cultural Plaza between 1981-1984 equaled $0.45 per square foot. This figure, a much higher amount than that paid by Fasi later on, falls firmly in the middle of the range provided by Mr. Hastings.

To further the assertion that the rent in the Cultural Plaza varies, Longevity's initial document production provided copies of leases for three other units in the Cultural Plaza which were of comparable size and location to the space leased by Fasi. These spaces are leased out by Longevity to charitable organizations for $1.00 a year.⁷ The Commission's initial subpoena to Longevity requested that they "[s]tate whether, at the time of the initial lease agreement, there were other units in [the] Cultural Plaza which were comparable in size and location to the space leased by Fasi." Assuming that the three leases provided represent a select class of lessees, the response from Longevity raises the inference that Fasi was provided with a rent subsidy which Longevity likened to a charitable contribution.

Leases for commercial entities renting space similarly sized to Fasi's at the Cultural Plaza, disclosed in Longevity's second document production, further justify the inference of a rent subsidy to Fasi. As demonstrated in Attachment 12, the differential between the minimum rent per square foot by the six commercial entities and Fasi is significant. For the years 1985 through 1996 the amounts paid ranged from a low of $0.30 per square foot for First Hawaiian Properties in 1985 to a high of $1.41 per square foot in 1995 for the State of Hawaii, Department of Labor/Department of Human Services. As demonstrated by the Chart, space within close proximity to Fasi's suite commanded prices ranging up to $1.41 per square foot, thus dismissing the notion that an undesirable local could have contributed to his precipitously low rental payment from 1984 through 1996.

Finally, Mr. Hastings' assertion that the commercial vacancy rates in Honolulu increased dramatically during 1992-1996 fails to resolve inconsistencies associated with the time periods preceding and during this span. First, it remains implausible that current market conditions would justify that Fasi's rent was lowered by nearly one-half (from $1,546.65 to $800.00) in 1984 at the termination of his written lease and the commencement of his oral agreement for the same rental space. Further, Mr. Hastings did not address the unusual fact that the amount of Mr. Fasi's monthly rent for this commercial space remained unchanged, neither increasing nor decreasing, over a span of twelve years.

Longevity's initial response indicates that "[s]ince Mr. Fasi vacated the space in November 1996...[t]he "base" rent paid by the tenant is $1.00 per square foot."⁸ In fact, the rental figures presented by Fa for leases commencing in Fall 1995 indicate a minimum base rent of $1.20 per square foot, in addition to the tenant being assessed a prorated common area maintenance fee, real property tax, and a 4.16% general excise tax on the total amount due. The sum of these figures equals a rent of almost $2.00 per square foot, which far exceeds the range provided by Mr. Hastings for the very same time period. Therefore, the rent proposed by Mr. Fa and Mr. Lawrence Chang, along with the rent paid by the tenant who has taken over Fasi's space, represents a great increase over the rate paid by Fasi. This data indicates that Mr. Hastings' comments about rental prices are inconsistent with information provided by Longevity and Fasi.

With regard to Fasi's, the recipient respondent's, involvement in this 441e scheme, the aforementioned information supports statements asserted by Chang during his interview, discussed supra pp. 2-3, that Fasi's rent was a "special case" for which Fasi reasonably had notice. Longevity stated that, except for Fasi "as far as we know, there was never a situation where a tenant was allowed in a space without any written lease." In 1984, the year that Fasi was elected Mayor of Honolulu, Fasi's rent dropped from a "base" rent of $0.45 per square foot to a "gross" rent $0.23 per square foot and remained at this price with no written lease for the following 12 years. As demonstrated by the Chart, other similarly situated rental space in the Cultural Plaza increased exponentially over the same 12 year period (Fasi held office from 1984-1994). It is difficult to fathom that Frank Fasi and Friends of Fasi would have been unaware of the discrepancy in their rental payments in comparison to the Honolulu rental market in general and the Cultural Plaza in specific.

⁸ Cultural Plaza tenants, according to correspondence supplied by Fasi, e.g. Attachment 8, are typically assessed, in addition to the "base" rent, a prorated common area maintenance fee, real property tax, and 4.16% general excise tax on the total amount due. These additional assessments render the total/gross rent as an amount almost double the "base" rent.

This Office has not obtained independent evidence of the improvements to the Cultural Plaza bestowed by the Mayor's Office as described by Chang. But, correspondence from the Coordination Council for North American Affairs ("CCNAA"), an arm of the Taiwanese government, reveals that Norman Yu, a resident alien who served as a high-level employee of CAL and the General Manager of Longevity from 1981-1984, was actively fundraising for Fasi and possibly obtained a position on the Honolulu City Government during Fasi's administration.⁹ While this piece of information is not conclusive of an improper relationship between Fasi and Longevity, it, along with the unusual circumstance of an oral lease for below fair market value rental prices, does buttress the presumption presented by Chang of a quid pro quo relationship between Longevity and Fasi based on in-kind contributions in exchange for governmental favors.

2. Foreign National Nexus

Under 22 U.S.C. §611(b), a corporation organized under the laws of any state within the United States whose principal place of business is within the United States is not a foreign principal and, accordingly, would not be a foreign national under 2 U.S.C. §441e. Section 441e, however, also prohibits contributions by a foreign national through any other person. Under the Act, the term "person" includes a corporation, such as Longevity. 11 C.F.R. § 110.4. Because Longevity is controlled and funded by foreign national individuals who have acted as its primary decisionmakers and its initial source of capital, Longevity has necessarily acted as a vehicle through which foreign nationals provided prohibited in-kind contributions to a state and local candidate committee. See A.O. 1981-36.

⁹ See Attachment 19. This letter was obtained in MUR 2892. According to the CCNAA, Yu solicited a donation from this explicitly foreign national governmental organization for Mayor Frank Fasi.

As discussed supra, individuals who are foreign nationals may not participate in decisions made by domestic corporations regarding contributions, including in-kind contributions, to either Federal or nonfederal campaign committees and candidates. See MUR 3460 and A.O. 1990-8. This, in turn, requires an examination of the nationalities of the decision-makers, specifically the officers and directors, in instances where a domestic corporation is implicated. See A.O.s 1985-3, 1982-10, and 1989-20. Before turning to the officers and directors of Longevity, the management personnel of Longevity and the Cultural Plaza, the individuals exercising day-to-day control over the operations of the building and its tenants, must be examined.¹⁰

Recognizing that Section 441e prohibits contributions by a foreign national "through any other person" no foreign nationals, including directors, officers, or other personnel of Longevity, may participate in any decisions by Longevity to contribute to Friends for Fasi or to other committees or campaigns for state or local office. Longevity's subpoena response dated January 9, 1998, reveals that at least two of Longevity's management personnel, were foreign nationals. These foreign nationals, Karl C.P. Wang and Chang-Jung Tuan, managed the Cultural Plaza, as

¹⁰ In A.O. 1989-20, Kuilima, a wholly-owned domestic subsidiary of a foreign nation parent corporation, sought to make contributions in state and local elections through a committee to be set up by the subsidiary. "All of the directors and officers" of the subsidiary were foreign nationals. The subsidiary represented that its committee would "be governed by three persons, each of whom will be a United States citizen. These persons will exercise all decision-making authority with respect to the Committee." The subsidiary asserted that the committee's decisions would be made "independently" of the foreign national parent and, as such, the committee's decisions "will not be dictated or directed by the foreign national parent, the subsidiary or any of their officers or directors."

The Commission stated that in order for the domestic company to make the proposed contributions, "no director or officer of the company or its parent who is a foreign national may participate in any way in the decision-making process with regard to making the proposed contributions."

21-044-402-4970

Assistant General Manager and General Manager, respectively, from 1984 through 1995.¹¹

While it is notable that Longevity's management of the Cultural Plaza was composed of foreign national personnel and management during the time in question, it is even more significant, as next discussed, that they received their instructions and were supervised by foreign nationals who mainly comprised the Board of Directors of Longevity.

Even a cursory review of Longevity's Articles of Incorporation and corporate by-laws, reveals that foreign national participation in the operation of the Cultural Plaza appears unavoidable. Attachment 14. As a preliminary matter, foreign national CAL executives comprised all but one of the original board of directors of Longevity (Szeto Fu, Chang Lin-Teh, Chi-Tao Shan, Sherman S.M. Wang, Jen Fie Tun, and Stanley S.C. Huang) and were responsible for funding the creation of Longevity and, presumably, the purchase of the Cultural Plaza.¹² The corporation at the time of its formation issued only one class of shares designated "common" shares. The total number of shares issued was 12,000. Of these 12,000 shares, 9,000 were resolved to be sold by the board. These shares were purchased as follows:

Szeto Fu:	5,000 shares for the payment of $5,000,000
Chang Lin-Teh:	3,855 shares for the payment of $3,855,000
Sherman S.M. Wang:	50 shares for the payment of $50,000
Jen Fie Tun:	75 shares for the payment of $75,000
Stanley S.C. Huang	20 shares for the payment of $20,000

¹¹ Information derived from Louis Chang's subpoena response dated December 3, 1997 and Longevity's subpoena response dated January 9, 1998. Longevity's subpoena response indicates that Karl Wang became a naturalized citizen sometime during the time period February 1, 1991 through August 31, 1995.

¹² See Chart 2, Attachment 12, for the CAL positions held by these individuals. According to Longevity's initial subpoena response, Longevity has been the owner of the Cultural Plaza since May 11, 1979. Furthermore, a "Foreign Corporation Declaration" filed by Longevity in Hawaii indicates that the purchase of an $8.5 million property, most likely the Cultural Plaza, is Longevity's purpose for doing business in Hawaii. Attachment 20.

Longevity's by-laws define the procedure by which the board is elected. Article II, Section 2. A shareholder may cast one vote for every share that he owns. For example, based upon shareholder information discussed above, Szeto Fu may cast 5,000 votes for his nominated choices whereas Mr. Huang may cast only 20 votes. The candidates receiving the highest number of votes are elected. As discussed above, all of the original shareholders, excepting one, were CAL employees and all of them are foreign nationals and residents of the Republic of China. Consequently, these foreign nationals held absolute control and direction over the composition of Longevity's board of directors which, as discussed below, is likewise predominately foreign national.

Through its investigation, this Office has obtained Longevity's Articles of Incorporation for the years 1979 (California) and 1995 (Hawaii) and the annual filings for 1987, 1990, 1996, and 1997 listing the board of directors and their place of residence. Article II, Section 5 of Longevity's by-laws requires that "[t]he majority of directors shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business...[n]o action...shall bind the corporation unless it receives the concurring vote of a majority of all directors present." Article II, Section 8 of the by-laws states that "[t]he property, affairs, and business of the corporation shall be managed by the Board of Directors." Moreover, according to Section 8, the Board of Directors "shall have the power to...appoint a general manager and such other managers....and to confer upon...them...such power and authority as it shall determine...for the transaction of business." Presumably, decisions to expend corporate treasury monies, as well as a variety of other matters, are all decisions required to be made by a majority vote of the board of directors. In fact, correspondence between Fasi and Longevity indicates that Longevity board approval is required for the contracting of a lease for space at the Cultural Plaza. Attachment 8. Since a majority vote is required to conduct business, these decisions could not be made without the participation of the foreign national board members. Certainly, one board member alone could not have made these decisions under existing by-laws. Consequently, foreign national control of Longevity's board of directors, as well as the selection of its board of directors by the shareholders, and the board's subsequent participation in all of the Longevity's substantive decisions seems both clear and inevitable.

3. CAL's Utilization of Longevity as an Instrumentality¹³

At first glance, CAL's initial subpoena response and document production appeared to preclude further investigation into their involvement in this matter. CAL claimed that it "does not now have, nor has it ever had, a corporate ownership interest in the Cultural Plaza.” A closer reading of CAL’s response, though, raised several questions concerning whether the directors, officers, and most importantly, the managers of Longevity, were acting collectively as an instrumentality of CAL while operating the Cultural Plaza.

CAL stated that “[o]ver the years, CAL which had experience in ownership and management of a hotel in Honolulu and a civic interest in assisting the Chinese-American community there, seconded some employees to Longevity.” This Office requested further information concerning: a) the name of the hotel that CAL owned and managed in Honolulu, b) their use of the term “seconded” on the context of their response (e.g. were the employees transferred or merely referred to Longevity by CAL), and 3) an explanation of the relationship between CAL and Longevity. In response, CAL stated that:

- a) it owns the Holiday Inn Waikiki,
- b) “[a]fter Longevity assumed ownership of the faltering Cultural Plaza, CAL offered to second some of its experienced employees to Longevity to aid in management of the property. The seconded employees became full employees of Longevity and were paid, supervised, and directed by Longevity. They did not report to CAL or otherwise retain any employee-employer relationship with CAL while working for Longevity. Most of the seconded employees eventually returned to work for CAL, typically after three or four years with Longevity. Approximately ten employees were seconded to Longevity over the years,” and
- c) “[w]hile there has never been any direct or indirect corporate relationship between CAL and Longevity, some of Longevity’s original shareholders and directors held senior positions in CAL.” As a follow-up to these answers, a member of this Office informally requested information from counsel concerning the arrangement whereby CAL seconded employees to Longevity, the names of the “[a]pproximately ten employees who were seconded to Longevity over the years,” and the names of each of “Longevity’s original shareholders and directors [who] held senior positions in CAL.”

Although counsel initially appeared amenable to these requests during a telephone conversation, he later declined to answer the additional questions. These questions were subsequently incorporated into the subpoena and document requests issued to CAL and Longevity.

Early investigative efforts by this Office's staff revealed that Mr. Wang, formerly the general manager of the Cultural Plaza, is currently the General Manager of the Holiday Inn, formerly know as the Dynasty Hotel of Hawaii ("Dynasty"), which is wholly owned by China Airlines. Also, inquiries made by this Office's staff concerning Mr. Chang, the former operations manager at the Cultural Plaza, indicate that he had previously been employed at CAL before his current retirement, although Mr. Chang would not confirm this information during a telephone interview. In addition, responsive documents from Longevity indicated that both Mr. Chang and Mr. Wang are listed as Officer and Director, respectively, in the 1995 "Articles of Incorporation of Longevity International Enterprises Corporation." Attachment 14.

More recent investigation has unearthed a more formalized and elaborate arrangement for personnel transfer and a greater overlap of personnel between CAL and Longevity than previously envisioned by this office and/or disclosed by CAL and Longevity. By correspondence supplementing its second subpoena response, Longevity disclosed that a majority of its original/current shareholders had held senior positions at CAL. Specifically, Szeto Fu, Chang Lin-Teh, Chi-Tao Shan and Stanley S.C. Huang were officers (Chairman of the Board, President, Vice-President, and Vice-President, respectively) of CAL at the time of or subsequent to the formation of Longevity. See Attachment 15. CAL individuals comprised all but one of the original board of directors of Longevity (Szeto Fu, Chang Lin-Teh, Chi-Tao Shan, Sherman S. M. Wang, Jen Fie Tun, and Stanley S.C. Huang) and were responsible for funding the creation of Longevity and, in all probability, the purchase of the Cultural Plaza, as discussed supra pp. 14-15.

In addition to the four high level CAL executives who financed the creation of Longevity, a number of CAL executives, at present count 27 (according to a cross referencing of investigation generated data and the World Aviation Directory, Spring 1975 through Summer 1996), were employed/assigned to a supervisory position at Longevity by CAL and then eventually returned to CAL's employ after their tenure at Longevity.¹⁴ See Attachments 1 & 16.

A translation of CAL's personnel records for Longevity employees, supplied by China Airlines in its later subpoena response, lists internal classifications for individuals "transferred" from CAL to Longevity. See Attachment 4. These classifications are labeled "code number," "salary grade," "personnel change code," and "new position." Counsel for CAL confirmed by letter that these classifications "reflect numeric codes for data processing purposes at CAL" and the code numbers "referred to the location of the position and general level [of the employee] within the company [CAL]." Id. Additionally, these documents also refer to the movement of employees between CAL and Longevity and the Cultural Plaza as "assignment to an external office," "assignment to a related business," and "transfer to support related business" reinforcing the notion that there has been a transferring of resources, and/or personnel, between Longevity, the entity conferring benefits on Mr. Fasi, and CAL, the foreign national. Id.

Further subpoena responses from "seconded" employees support the notion of an arrangement for the transfer of resources, in the form of personnel, between CAL and Longevity.

¹⁴ In response to CAL correspondence which indicated that "[a]pproximately ten employees...were seconded to Longevity over the years," this Office informally requested the names of the ten employees. After CAL refused to provide these names, this Office subpoenaed CAL for the information. In response to the subpoena, CAL revealed only six names.

Karl Wang, who served as former deputy director of public relations of CAL's office in Taipei from June 1977 to August 1987, assistant general manager of CAL's Office in San Francisco from September 1987 to October 1988, assistant general manager at Longevity's Cultural Plaza from November 1988 to March 1991, and general manager of the Cultural Plaza from 1991 to 1995, states that he had been "seconded" to Longevity from CAL and that "[t]here was no specific arrangement, agreement, and/or contract. I simply received an order of overseas assignment." Further, the "order of [his] assignment to Longevity was signed by CAL's general manager." As discussed, supra p. 13, Wang is currently employed by Holiday Inn at Waikiki, a wholly-owned subsidiary of CAL, as the general manager and serves on the board of directors of the hotel.

Louis Chang was employed by CAL as the chief of civil engineering in CAL's Taipei office from 1976 to 1979 before he was "seconded" to Longevity, where he served as operations manager of the Cultural Plaza from 1979 through 1995. Like Wang, he states that there was "no specific arrangement, agreement, and/or contract. I received an order of overseas assignment." The "order of [his] assignment to Longevity probably was signed by CAL's president."

More specifically, during most of the period in question, Chang and Wang were the general manager and the operations manager of Longevity, respectively speaking. Their "duties and responsibilities...include[d] the day to day operations of dealing with the tenants and dealing with the problems of tenants." Longevity Response dated February 6, 1997. Further, according to Longevity's subpoena response dated January 7, 1998, Louis C.L. Chang was, as operations manager, responsible for negotiating the leasing agreement with Fasi for space at the Cultural Plaza in 1981 and 1984.

Louis Chang, in his subpoena response, indicates that from October 1979 through July 31, 1995 he served as operation manager of the Cultural Plaza assisting the general manager in managing the cultural plaza. Over this span of years, he was supervised by Allen S.C. Chow, Norman Yu, Chun-I Hsu, Chang-Jong Tuan and Karl C.P. Wang. According to Chang, all of these individuals were "seconded" employees from CAL. In response to the interrogatory asking him to "state whether you were given any instructions, directions, and/or orders from CAL regarding your duties at Longevity," he answers that he was "given instructions, directions, and/or orders by the persons named..above (Chow, Yu, Hsu, Tuan, Wang)."

Similarly, Wang stated that the individuals who supervised him while he was the assistant general manager at the cultural plaza, Chen-I Hsu and Chang-Jong Tuan, were "seconded" employees from CAL. In response to the interrogatory which asked Wang to "state whether you were given any instructions, directions, and/or orders from CAL regarding his duties at Longevity," he responded that he "was given instructions, directions, and orders from Longevity's board of directors."

According to Longevity, the individuals who negotiated the leasing agreement with Fasi for space at the Cultural Plaza for his years of tenancy were:

1981:	Allen S. H. Chow Louis C.L. Chang	General Manager Operations Manager
1984:	Norman Yu Louis C.L. Chang	General Manager Operations Manager
1995:	Rex Fa Lawrence Chang	General Manager Operations Manager

Correspondence produced by Longevity confirms that Chang was involved in lease negotiations in 1984 and also indicate that Chun-I Hsu, as well, was involved in rent negotiations.

21-04-402-4979

Attachment 17. As discussed, supra p.7, and in prior General Counsel's Reports in this matter, Longevity reduced Fasi's rental rate from $2700 in 1981-1983 to $800 in 1984. Norman Yu, Louis Chang, and Hsu-I Chun, all "seconded" employees from CAL, negotiated this agreement.

C. Summary

Based on the aforementioned investigation, this Office has gathered information and documentation which confirms the foreign national nexus essential to demonstrating the elements of a Section 441e violation by Fasi and Longevity in this matter. As delineated above, Fasi's reduced rental payment qualifies as a "contribution in connection with an election." Fasi not only had reasonable notice of the "contribution" but also an indication of the foreign national composition of Longevity's management, board of directors, and ownership. Fasi, in the initial subpoena response, states that "[i]t is believed that the Cultural Plaza is owned by an American-based corporation with Taiwanese ownership, Longevity International, but that it is managed by.....since 1994, Taiwanese officials." This statement intimates Fasi's knowledge of the foreign national make-up of Longevity's management and board of directors.

The relationship between CAL and Longevity, through the transferring of resources from CAL and the participation of CAL officers and employees in the decision-making process with regard to making the alleged contribution to Fasi as the recipient respondent, leads to the presumption that Longevity directors, officers and managers of were acting as agents of CAL. Under this presumption, CAL's participation may fall within the foreign national prohibition. The absence of definitive evidence of a formal legal relationship between CAL and Longevity, though, presents a serious obstacle to pursuit of CAL for violation of Section 441e. Although CAL and Longevity have requested pre-probable cause conciliation in this matter, this Office views an admission of Section 441e liability as highly unlikely for all three respondents. Taking respondents' posture regarding their nationality status and the foregoing conclusions into account, as well as statute of limitation concerns, the Office of General Counsel is now prepared to transmit probable cause briefs to Fasi and Longevity. Further this Office intends to recommend no further action with regard to CAL in a later report.

REPORT OF INVESTIGATION

File Title Frank Fasi et.al.	MUR No. 4594	Date of Report Jan. 16, 1998
SUBJECT: Interview with Louis C. L. Chang

Tuesday
Jan. 13, 1998
1616 hrs.

At this time Attorney Nancy Bell conducted a telephone interview with Mr. Louis C.L. Chang of Honolulu, Hawaii. The purpose of this interview was to ask Mr. Chang several follow-up questions based on written responses to an interrogatory he recently submitted to the this office. The undersigned investigator was on hand to witness the interview and offer advice.

Mr. Chang, who was contacted at his home agreed to answer Ms. Bell's questions. The interview consisted of follow-up questions to several of the original interrogatory questions as follows:

Q. 2. (c) Were you given instructions, directions or orders from employees at China Air Lines (CAL) and who (listed in 2. (b)) worked previously at CAL.

Mr. Chang answered that he only reported to the General Manager (GM) while working at Longevity, stating "My work there was Operations Manager, I listened to the GM." When asked about the other Gm's he worked for, Mr. Chang stated "All those GM's worked for CAL."

Q. 3. Where did you work while you were at CAL - physical location?

Mr. Chang answered that while working for CAL, he was stationed in the main office in Tai Pai.

Q. 4. (a) When you went to work for Longevity, it was because you received an overseas assignment? Who gave you the assignment? Was this typical at CAL? Did you question why you were directed to go work at longevity? Did you know of this happening to other employees? Who?

Mr. Chang answered that CAL personnel dept. issued the orders for him to go work at Longevity. Mr. Chang also stated that the general manager of CAL wanted him to become the deputy director of the airline but Mr. Chang wanted to go to Hawaii. Mr. Chang added that the president of CAL at the time, Mr. Lin-Teh Chang authorized his transfer to Hawaii.

Q. 7. Do you know Frank Fasi? Would you know him by sight? How did you come to know him? Do you know Salvador Fasi?

Mr. Chang answered that he knew Frank Fasi from seeing him at the Cultural Plaza. Mr. Chang went on to state that he did not know him personally but often exchanged greetings in passing. Regarding Salvador Fasi, Mr. Chang replied that he was not sure if he ever met him.

Q. 8. How was the rent usually paid by the tenants in the building? Was the Operations or General Manager typically involved in collection of rent?

Mr. Chang stated the Accounting Manager collected the rent. Mr. Chang stated "I never received checks." Mr. Chang also stated that during this time, John Chang was the Accounting Manager at Longevity. Mr. Chang went on to state that John Chang was responsible for setting general rent but "Fasi was a special case," not considered regular rent but a "business decision." Mr. Chang added that it was thought by Longevity that a reduced rent for Fasi would produce "advantages from the Mayor." The fact that Fasi was mayor influenced the rent according to Mr. Chang. "I think so, but not sure" stated Mr. Chang, "Someone above me made the decision." Mr. Chang also stated that the Cultural Plaza was placed on a city bus route and got a bus stop after Fasi moved in. Mr. Chang added that police patrols increased in the area after Fasi's arrival. According to Mr. Chang, someone from Longevity appealed to Mr. Fasi for more police protection in the area after several crimes were committed at or near the Cultural Plaza.

Q. 12. Did you know C.T. Wong? Was he a friend or co-worker? Did you know him at CAL? Was he involved with the CP or Longevity? Was he friendly with Fasi?

Mr. Chang stated that Mr. Wong was a board member of the CP and of Longevity. Mr. Chang also stated that Mr. Wong was not an employee of CAL but an advisor/consultant. Regarding Wong's relationship with Fasi, Mr. Chang stated Wong may have known Fasi since they "ran in similar circles." Mr. Chang stated further that Mr. Wong frequently stopped by the CP but was not involved in day to day business. Mr. Chang went on to state that Mr. Wong is around 90 years old and still living in Hawaii. Mr. Chang added that Mr. Wong started working as an office boy at the Liberty Bank in Hawaii and worked his way up to become President of the bank.

During the interview Mr. Chang also provided the following information to Ms. Bell:

Mr. Chang stated that John Chang is now living in Tai Pai.

Mr. Chang stated that he believed that Chun-I Hsu is currently living in Los Angeles, CA.

During the interview, Mr. Chang stated that CAL is the owner of the Cultural Plaza. Mr. Chang stated that CAL acquired the CP in either 1978 or 1979. Mr. Chang added this was why he was not surprised with his transfer from CAL to Longevity, since CAL owned the CP.

Mr. Chang confirmed that all the general managers he served under while at Longevity came from CAL and returned to CAL after leaving Longevity. Mr. Chang added that he was the only one that did not return to CAL.

This interview was concluded at 1644 hrs.
